Headstone:

Sacred to the memory of

WILLIAM SLY

Late of this parish.

Who departed this life October 16 1822

Aged 63 years

He left a wife and eleven children to lament his loss.

Physicians were in vain

Til God did please for death to seize

And ease me of my pain.

About Calstock :

Besides Calstock town, the chief villages are Gunnislake (where there was a chapel-of-ease), Albaston, Harrabear, Chilsworthy, Latchley and Metherell. Calstock town is situated on the banks of the Tamar. Cotehele House, the ancient seat of the Edgcumbe Family, is in the parish and is a Tudor mansion owned by the National Trust. It once belonging to the Earls of Mount Edgcumbe; this mansion was built by Sir Richard Edgcumbe during the reign of Henry VII. King Charles II, then Prince of Wales, stayed here for a short period in 1645. Cotehele was visited by Queen Victoria and Prince Albert in 1846. It is now a National Trust property.

The parish of Calstock was originally in the Liskeard Registration District (1837 to 1860); There were sub-districts at Callington, Lerrin, Liskeard and Looe. It was then transferred into the Tavistock Registration District of Devon. However, it is now in the St Germans Registration District and comprises 5760 acres of land, 70 acres of water, 44 acres of tidal water and 21 acres of foreshore.

"Calstock is situated in the deanery and Hundred of East. It is separated on the north and east sides from the Devon parishes of Lamerton, Tavistock and Beer Ferris, by the river Tamar. It is bounded on the south by St Dominick, and on the west by Callington and Stoke Climsland. The parish is named after the old English for a settlement 'stoch' preceded by an unknown word, possibly a personal name. The village is mentioned in the Domesday Book of 1086 as Calestoch. At that time it had land for 12 ploughs; there were 30 villagers and 30 smallholders with 6 ploughs, and 100 acres of woodland.

This was one of the 228 manors that were given to the Earl of Mortain, the brother of William the Conqueror.

The parish of Calstock was originally in the Liskeard Registration District (1837 to 1860); There were sub-districts at Callington, Lerrin, Liskeard and Looe.
